

Getting a Feel for Surfing

Surfing student Matthew Sidlinger, 14, takes to the water at Manhattan Beach for a lesson from Lloyd Herbert, far right. Free surf lessons for students at the Braille Institute for the Blind were hosted by Konca Aquatics owner Kip Jerger and pro surfer Dru Harrison. The lessons will continue through Thursday at the 45th Street lifeguard tower. Below, Herbert gives Christopher Stark, 12, some instruction before hitting the waves. Information: (310) 374-1894

Photos by
KIRK McCOY
Los Angeles Times

